Radney Foster - This World We Live In

By: Erika Ellis

Foster was born in Del Rio, TX, and took up the guitar at age 12, which soon propelled him to fame and musical success. Radney Foster started his career as a songwriter, then found commercial success and critical acclaim as part of the duo Foster & Lloyd. He soon went solo in 1991 and in which spawned his debut, Del Rio, Texas, 1992 and proved to be a commercial as well as critical success; four of its singles hit the Top 40, and of those, "Just Call Me Lonesome" made the Top Ten, while "Nobody Wins" fell one spot short of the top of the country charts. This World We Live In will soon be released in April on Dualtone Music Group. His voice rings in emotion and his lyrics write hope. This CD will either wrap up his work or give light to more to come, either way it is moving and a little less Country and somewhat Rock.
